

Call for Papers Law and Society Collaborative Research Network (CRN 11) Displaced Peoples: Special Issue

by the Journal of Internal Displacement

Guest Editors

Megan J. Ballard, Professor of Law, Gonzaga University

Ben Hudson, Lecturer in Law, University of Lincoln

The Journal of Internal Displacement is calling for papers to be published in its Law and Society's Collaborative Research Network (CRN 11 – Displaced Peoples) Special Issue in January 2018. Papers must be submitted no later than by 31 October 2017.

Topics could include (but not limited to):

- Theoretical and conceptual analysis
- Law, policy and advocacy
- Mapping of missing migrants
- Emergency response
- Socio-legal dimension
- Impact, influence and outcome
- Challenge and opportunity with program implementation
- Story and lived experience

About the Journal: The Journal of Internal Displacement (JID) is a scholarly and interdisciplinary platform for raising the profile of displaced populations through discussions, critical dialogue, emerging themes, reflections and explorations on a wide range of topics and regions. The JID promotes free and open access. The JID charges no publication fees to authors.

Submission Guidelines:

- Manuscripts must be submitted no later than 31 October 2017
- Manuscripts must have a maximum of 30 pages (i.e., ~15,000 words including references) single space, Times New Roman, 12-point font size with 150-words abstract and 5 keywords.
- Authors and reviewer guidelines are provided here. For more information on CRN 11, click here.

Direct all questions about this Special Issue to Veronica Fynn Bruey, Editor-in-Chief:
internaldisplacement@gmail.com.